Title
Big Data, Open Data: Finding a Needle in a Digital Haystack

Permalink
https://escholarship.org/uc/item/30h396sm

Author
Borgman, Christine L.

Publication Date
2014-05-29
Big Data, Open Data: Finding a Needle in a Digital Haystack

Christine L. Borgman
Professor & Presidential Chair in Information Studies
University of California, Los Angeles

Legislative Data and Transparency Conference
Thursday, May 29, 2014
Capitol Visitor Center Auditorium

Session:
Bringing the Benefits of Paper Retrieval to Electronic Records
Moderator: Anne Washington, George Mason University
Speakers:
Sara Frug, Cornell University
John Jorgenson, Rutgers School of Law - Newark
Christine Borgman, University of California, Los Angeles

Video of all sessions:
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MVqNNlluPr0&feature=youtu.be

Our session starts at 7:11 on the video; Borgman presentation begins at 7:27.

Christine L. Borgman, Professor & Presidential Chair in Information Studies at UCLA, is the author of more than 200 publications in information studies, computer science, and communication. Her monographs, Scholarship in the Digital Age: Information, Infrastructure, and the Internet (MIT Press, 2007) and From Gutenberg to the Global Information Infrastructure: Access to Information in a Networked World (MIT Press, 2000), each won the Best Information Science Book of the Year award from the American Society for Information Science and Technology. Her next book, Big Data, Little Data, No Data: Scholarship in the Networked World, is forthcoming from MIT Press in late 2014. She is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the Association for Computing Machinery, and a recipient of the Paul Evan Peters Award from the Coalition for Networked Information, Association for Research Libraries, and EDUCAUSE, and the Research in Information Science Award from the American Association of Information Science and Technology. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Electronic Privacy Information Center, and previously served on the U.S. National Academies’ Board on Research Data and Information and the U.S. National CODATA.