Title
Creating Worlds: Scenic Design for Hamlet

Permalink
https://escholarship.org/uc/item/82d4g4b0

Author
Carino, Jenna

Publication Date
2015

Supplemental Material
https://escholarship.org/uc/item/82d4g4b0#supplemental

Peer reviewed|Thesis/dissertation
“Creating Worlds: Scenic Design for Hamlet”

A thesis submitted in partial satisfaction of the requirements for the degree Master of Fine Arts in

Theatre and Dance (Design)

by

Jenna Carino

Committee in charge:

Andrei Both, Chair
Judith Dolan
Mark Guirguis
Manuel Rotenberg

2015
The thesis of Jenna Carino is approved and it is acceptable in quality and form for publication on microfilm and electronically:

______________________________
Chair

______________________________

______________________________

______________________________

University of California, San Diego

2015
DEDICATION

I would like to dedicate this thesis to my Parents Jo and Peter Carino, to Donald Ruge, to my husband Dominic DiGiovanni, and to everyone who has supported me throughout my journey as a designer. I would also like to dedicate this thesis to two undergraduate professors, Alma Becker and David Yergan – though you have left this world, your hearts and your beautiful souls are remembered fondly.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Signature Page</td>
<td>iii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dedication</td>
<td>iv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Table of Contents</td>
<td>v</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>List of Supplemental Files</td>
<td>vi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acknowledgements</td>
<td>vii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstract of the Thesis</td>
<td>viii</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIST OF SUPPLEMENTAL FILES

File 1. Hamlet Research Page 1

File 2. Hamlet Research (Elsinor) Page 2

File 3. Hamlet Production Still Page 3

File 4. Hamlet Production Still Page 4

File 5. Hamlet Production Still Page 5

File 6. Hamlet Production Still Page 6

File 7. Hamlet Production Still Page 7

File 8. Hamlet Production Still Page 8

File 9. Hamlet Production Still Page 9

File 10. Hamlet Production Still Page 10
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am extremely grateful for all of the people in my life who have supported me as an artist, friend, and colleague. To those in my family who have never once lost faith in me and who continue to offer their undying support and love. To my closest friends and fellow graduate students who have pushed me and motivated me to be my best. To the amazing Scenic, Prop, and Paint shops, who make the work that I do come to life and look more beautiful than I could ever image – thank you for your teachings and support as well. To my mentors and professors who have challenged and encouraged me to push boundaries of design. To my fellow designers for their honesty, creative minds, and collaborations. All of our futures are so bright and I know our artistic endeavors will take us far.
ABSTRACT OF THE THESIS

“Creating Worlds: Scenic Design for Hamlet”

by

Jenna Carino

Master of Fine Arts in Theatre and Dance (Design)

University of California, San Diego, 2015

Professor Andrei Both, Chair

A working designer is first and foremost a collaborator. The set design for a production is imperative on how collaboration begins, and the outcome of the design is an outcome of the success of that collaboration. In the world of theatrical production design, a successful collaboration is based on the communication skills of the designer, the image research and ability to go beyond the text, and of course, a deep knowledge of the show at hand. A successful design will then show that collaboration at it’s finest - the established world that has been created to tell the story.
The set design for Hamlet, Directed by Michael Moran, in the UCSD Mandell-Weiss Theatre was a unique challenge and a collaboration process that started months before the show was open, and in the end yielded a successful and visually engulfing result. Set in a modern to almost futuristic tone, the world of Hamlet revolved around a few central ideas - For Hamlet, Elsinore is a prison and for the rest, it is where the evils of the world and the truths locked away behind a cold, clean facade. The Ghost enters the world to reveal the truth to Hamlet, and charges Hamlet with revealing that truth to others. The scenic design reflects Hamlet’s journey in revealing the truth and exposing Elsinor for what it is. Standing at 16 and 24 feet, the walls of Elsinor shift and slide into different configurations every act and expand the set throughout the play. Every prop and detail of this design had to be carefully researched and thought out to fit into this stark and monumental design. Overall, the aesthetic was modern, sleek, and expensive, and the design was highly functional to allow for flexible staging.

Due to careful collaboration and a smattering of image research, the scenic design for Hamlet was not only visually cohesive, but it served the purpose of the play, established a world for the characters to live in, and helped fulfill the vision of the director.